

ABSTRACT

A rotor assembly for an electric device comprising includes a hub fixedly connectable to a crankshaft of an engine and a rotor fixedly connected to said hub for operational engagement with a stator of the electric machine. An elastomeric dampener is disposed between and interconnects the hub and the rotor to dampen torsional vibration from the engine.